When we moved to Winsley 35 years ago the tradition of open-plan front gardens was very evident so as you walked around the estate there were areas of grass and flower beds to look at in front of the houses and wire fencing plus hedges or trees allowed glimpses into back gardens. Over time many of these areas in front have been concreted over or paved to provide parking for an ever-increasing number of cars and rear gardens are more likely to be enclosed with high wooden fencing or stone walls and the side gates are often of a similar height and lockable. At the same time, many of the original trees have died or been cut down and not replaced.

Other developments in the village, while commendable in themselves, have resulted in yet more green space being given up to car-parking. The overall effect is of much less greenery to rest the eyes on, and during the pandemic the need for local green space has been much in demand, restricted as we have been with regard to visiting public parks and gardens. In particular the older village inhabitants have perhaps felt this loss more acutely since they often have nowhere to walk but immediately along the road adjacent to where their house is.

Only a short while ago, it seems, there was mention made in the Parish Council meeting minutes of the possibility of a seat or seats being put in the area now under discussion, which was, I thought, an admirable plan. Then only a month or so later came the notice of the sale of the plot of land between the playing field and the by-pass and the impossibility of that piece of land being afforded by the Parish Council.

If as a measure of carbon reduction the actual number of vehicles on the roads is reduced, surely it is worth considering a reduction in the number of areas of green being covered with gravel or concrete at this point in time. Let's plant a few more trees instead!!!
